Rev. B. F. McLendon, the well known evangelist arrived in Anderson Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock, and delivered a sermon at the regular prayer meeting services at the John's church.

The evangelist says that he has come to Andersen on business and part of that business is to be three sermons preached here Thursday, and Friday evenings and Sunday morning at St. John's. Personally Mr. McLendon looks just life he did when he was here before and says he is fit and ready for work. He made a short trip around town Wednesday evening renewing acquaintances and see.

Of his work since he left Anderson, Mr. McLendon says there is little to tell. He has held several meetings, all of which thave been well attended, and have brought forth results.
In Bishopville, Mr. McLendon says that he had 1,600 people to make professions of faith and at Holly Hill there were 1,500. He has conducted eleven meetings during the asst year eleven meetings during the past year and has had 1,800 persons to join the churches as the direct results of

Mr. McLendon stated that he in-Mr. Moleculon stated that he intends to start out next year using tabernacles; instead of tents. "I think I've outgrown tents, and the tabernacles are so much better, I am going to give them a trial." His meetings will be held indoors, in buildings made of rough lumber, borrowed or rented from lumber com-panies in the town in which he is stopping. The lumber can be rented cheaply and as none of it is out. there is very little damaged to such extent that it has to be purchased. The tabernacles are easily built and the custom is to build them with

The first big meeting of next year is to be held in Crangeburg. This will be the first tenernacie meeting. Fock Hill is the only appountry town that has been selected by Mr. Mc-Lendon for next year's work. All of the rest of the time he will spend in the lower part of the state.

WANT NAMES CHANGED

Petitions Signed by Londoners to Kilmissic German Names.

London, Dec. 15.—Petitions to rename streets bearing German names have met with a cold reception from the London county council. One of the latest of these petitions cannot from the residents of Wiesbaden road, who wanted either an English name or an allied name. Among the signers of five paper were a Pothstein, a Meyer, a Rebinstoin, an Aaronburg and a Finkenstein and altogether about forty family names of Germanic origin. People who themselves bear German names are decisred to be among the main promoters of these potitions, apparently with a view to establishing their own jarjotism.
